MUSIC & LECTURE

SATURDAY at 5PM • September 24
Sonority Sings Shakespeare through the Centuries
with comments by UCLA Distinguished Professor Jonathan Post

Sonority women's quartet presents a program of choral compositions, some arranged by the group, which draw on lyrics from Shakespeare plays, including The Tempest, Twelfth Night, and Hamlet. The program features songs set to music from Shakespeare's time by Morley, Johnson, and Jones, as well as later settings by Purcell, Stevens, Cooke, Nares, Wood, and Schubert, and includes a set by contemporary New York City composer Matthew Harris. Stonington resident Jonathan Post, UCLA Distinguished Professor, author, and founding Director of the UCLA Summer Shakespeare Program in Stratford and London, will speak about Shakespeare and music, how song texts were set into the plays, and the relationship of texts to their settings.
Suggested donation $5.

MUSIC MATTERS

SATURDAY at 5PM • September 17
All Bach Harpsichord Recital
featuring Elena Zamolodchikova

Little did we know, when we first heard harpsichordist Elena Zamolodchikova at the La Grua Center last year, what a vibrant, communicative musical personality we have in our midst. She is a brilliant, mature musician with a striking on stage presence. Her rare skill as a voicer and keyboard finisher also make her a core resource at Stonington's celebrated Zuckermann harpsichord workshop. It is a privilege to announce Elena's Music Matters debut, a celebration of Johann Sebastian Bach. Join us to hear the Master, masterfully played!
Suggested donation $10.
